NEW ARRIVAL! THE WILMINGTON CRUSADER

proudly announces the arrival of
A NEW PRESS
January 22, 1958

(As with all newsmen, we may be full of wrinkles, but pardon us for now and we'll be OK in a few weeks. You ought to see us work! Just feed us on schedule, paper and print, and out comes your paper, ready to deliver.)

We're Having Growing Pains, But —

This week's enlarged issue of The Crusader is a preview of the bigger and better things to come.

For years we have been looking for a particular type of daily newspaper press, and when a daily went out of business, we finally found just the right one.

Our new press enables us to provide a bigger, better and easier-to-read paper, serving the people of Wilmington news of town events faster and more efficiently.

We'll be experimenting a bit with size in the next few weeks, so bear with us, as we grow along with the Town.

Mothers' March Next Tuesday

An annual labor of love takes place in Wilmington next week from 7 to 9 p.m. Tuesday evenings Mothers of every size, shape and walk of life, even including many who are not mothers in the literal sense, walk.

They walk for those who cannot walk, the victims of polio that the Salk vaccine came to late to help. A porch light on is the signal for the many who will have any kind of weather next Tuesday to call for your dimes or dollars. It's a long, cold walk in January; the marchers are not collecting for themselves, but for victims of the dread disease that they will never know. They are giving to make their walk worth-while.

Mothers are needed in some areas. Contact Chairman of Wilmington's Mothers' March, Mrs. E. J. O'Connell, at OL 8-3950, or Mrs. M. J. O'Connell, at OL 8-3505 if you would like to help.

High School Faculty And School Committee To Hold Series Of Conferences

Seven members of the faculty of Wilmington High School met with the School Committee last Wednesday evening and formulated plans for a series of conferences between the committee and the members of the various departments in the high school.

High School Principal Bernard McMahon and Assistant Principal Driscoll and department heads including Mrs. Webber, commercial; Miss Farrell, science; Mr. Hamilton, shop; Mr. Hamilton, guidance and Mr. Bradbury, mathematics, wholeheartedly agreed with the committee on the merits of the meetings.

Beginning on Feb. 5, when the math and science departments will meet with the committee, the series of conferences will provide an opportunity for the teachers and the school committee members to know each other, and to discuss problems and ideas peculiar to the various departments.

Miss Martin on the English department was unable to attend the initial meeting.

Unanimous Vote Authorizes High School Expansion

In a thirteen minute town meeting attended by 177 voters, the three articles authorizing the town to build a fourteen room addition to the high school were unanimously passed Monday evening. The worry that enough voters to make the 150 vote quorum would not appear was dispelled shortly after 8:00 p.m. At 8:12 Moderator Simon Cutter, Middlesex County's new assistant district attorney, opened the meeting.

The Finance Committee approved the three articles. Their "no action" vote on the original articles caused the legal opinion that the vote was invalid, but was responsible for Monday's special meeting.

Chairman of the High School Building Committee Fred Corum moved the articles. Article 1, to rescind the original vote passed without comment. Upon the reading of article II, asking an appropriation for the addition, Ralph Babcock asked for an explanation for those not familiar with the background. Mr. Corum explained that the structure would be essentially the same as had been called for originally, but with the following changes, suggested by the State School Building Assistance Committee: the addition will be 10 feet longer; there will be 8 regular sized classrooms and 6 double sized ones, (designed to ultimately be used for science and home economic purposes); the shop will be enlarged to accommodate electronic and electrical engineering studies; a storage space will be provided for athletic field equipment and the driver education car. Also planned are additional boiler facilities. Original plans to enlarge the cafeteria were abandoned as the SSBAC felt the present cafeteria is adequate for the 1350 high school pupils the school will eventually accommodate. Article III asked transfer of the approximately $75,000 left from the bond issues floated for the original structure. William "Agreeable" Smith questioned the "approximately". Mr. Corum said that an exact figure was not available until audits were completed but that at last reckoning it was $75,000. The meeting was adjourned at 8:26.

PRE-SCHOOL POLIO CLINIC LATER THIS MONTH

Board of Health Agent Patrick Thibault announced this week that the first of a new series of clinics for the administration of the Salk vaccine will be held later this month.

Mr. Thibault asks all interested parents of children over six months of age, who are not yet in school, to contact the Board of Health at Town Hall immediately for registration cards. Children who received their first, or first two shots elsewhere, and wish to complete the series at this clinic, must register. Children who have received no shots, or those who have received two at a Wilmington clinic also must register. Children who previously registered and received only one shot need not re-register.

Skating Carnival Sunday

Sunday afternoon children and adults alike should enjoy an interesting program of thrills and spills at the Recreation Commission and the Wilmington Skating Club join efforts in sponsoring a winter ice carnival to be held at the Skating Club rink at 2 o'clock.

Events have been planned for all ages and trophies and other valuable prizes will be awarded to winners and champions of final events. Races will be sponsored for the following age levels and will be offered to both girls and boys: Pee-Wee, ages 4 to 7; Midgets, ages 8 to 10; Juveniles, 11 to 13; Juniors, 14 to 16; Seniors 17 and over; Mothers race, and Mens Old Timers race. To qualify all one needs to have is a pair of ice skates and to be a resident of the Town of Wilmington. There will be no charge for spectators of contestants. In the event of inclement weather the races will be postponed on the following Sunday.

Plans have been made for general ice skating for the general public and the clubhouse will be open throughout the afternoon and evening.

Welcome Wagon Calls

Mrs. Marion J. Waller, Welcome Wagon Hostess for Wilmington, pleased to announce that during all the winter months Welcome Wagon calls will be made to all newcomers to Wilmington as well as Family calls.

The fourteen calls listed in last week's Crusader were all made by Mrs. Waller. Mrs. Waller will be assisted in her welcoming by Mrs. Carrie Lewis, Assistant Welcome Wagon hostess.

Methodist Basketball League Being Formed

The Lynn District of the Methodist Youth Fellowship will begin its basketball league on Saturday night, January 25, in the Clifforddale Methodist Church, where the boys of the Wilmington Methodist Church will meet the boys of that church. A cheer leading group is being formed by the girls in the group and all their friends and members of the MYP are invited to attend the game. The young people will leave from the church at 7:15. Following the game there will be a time of social dancing and refreshments.

Robert Smith, coach of the local team, has announced that the Melrose Methodist Church team will play in Wilmington on Saturday night, February 1. He also stated that each time in the league has had an excellent record over the past few years and that it should prove a thrilling experience for the members and friends of the Methodist Youth Fellowship.

President Of New England Methodist Student Movement To Be Youth Sunday Speaker, January 26

Frank Danforth, president of the New England Methodist Student Movement, former president of the Methodist New England Conference, and a senior at the University of Massachusetts, will be the inspirational at the Youth Sunday Services, January 26 at 8:15 and 11 a.m. Mr. Danforth has recently returned from the Methodist International Conference in Lawrence, Kansas, and his message will deal with the highlights and message of that great gathering of Methodist students.

Members of the Salem Youth Fellowship will assist in the services of worship. At 9:15 Wayne Prescott, Earl Hubbard, Carol Randall and Jeanne Wood will assist with Frank Whitney and Kenneth Smith serving as ushers. All young people of grades seven and 8 through high school will attend the early service. At 11 a.m. Mary Beth Byam, Thomas Fuller and Patricia Manuel will assist with Phillip Tupper & Robt. Cornish serving as ushers.

Members and friends of the church are invited to give these young people their wholehearted support by sharing with them in these worship services.

Church to Have 11 Buildings

One of the most unusual and modern groups of religious buildings in the world—a "campus" arrangement of 11 buildings on an 8½-acre site—will soon be built by the Community Church (Unitarian) in White Plains, N.Y.

All of the buildings, designed by architect Jules Gregory, will have masonry walls and white asphalt shingle roofs supported by laminated wood trusses. The white roofs will provide more summer comfort by reflecting much of the sun's heat.

The buildings will include a church with a seating capacity of 400, a combination meeting hall and lounge, and nine classroom buildings with unique hexagonal "butterfly" roofs, and movable partitions permitting expansion of the rooms.

Grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Cove of Stow, and Mr. and Mrs. Samuel S. Thorpe of Lowell.

If... Dr. Louise Bates Ames

If, that little word that is ever before us, but which gains open magnitude in our New England weather is again predominant in the minds of the Wildwood Club officials. As a result, they are happy to announce that if there is a big snow storm on the day of Dr. Louise Bates Ames' scheduled appearance, she will be in Wilmington the following night, Tuesday, January 27. If in doubt, keep your radio dial turned to WBZ, WHDH or WCAP for definite notice of postponement.

Tickets are going fast for this lecture by this renowned authority who has helped thousands of parents approach their problems with more understanding and less worry about creating "mental blocks". If you haven't purchased your ticket yet, there are still some available at Weinberg's Store and Steven's Market. For more information regarding tickets you may call Mrs. Barbara Dowling at 8-4136.

Any parent who is interested in creating a better relationship between school and home should not miss this opportunity to hear Dr. Ames. Parent-teacher conferences, so important, will be conducted between 7 and 8 o'clock. Mrs. Weinberg, second grade teacher at the East Wilmington Betterment Hall will be on hand in the all-purpose room at the Wildwood School for the added convenience of parents attending the meeting. There will be a short business meeting at 8:00 o'clock sharp at which time the attendance banner will be awarded. Dr. Ames will immediately follow the business meeting.

Don't miss out on what promises to be one of Wilmington's most informative evenings.

The School Committee received word this week that the annual receipt of State aid for public schools will amount to $117,476.68. Added to reimbursements from the State and other agencies for special classes, transportation, vocational education, the George-Barden Fund, evening school and the division of child guidance, a total of $156,657.21 is estimated as the amount that will be returned to the town this year.

These amounts are often overlooked in fixing the portion of the tax dollar spent on Schools.

The School Department also returned an amount of $7837.56 to the E and D fund this week. This is money that was included in last years budget and was not spent.

Rock 'N Roll; Victim Or Villain

By John J. Kirvan, staff-writer, Paulist Feature Service

ROCK 'N ROLL continues to leave the nation "all shook up." So do juvenile delinquents. And many Americans would like to blame the music for the delinquency.

Are they right? You've seen the headlines that read: "Rock 'N Rollers Riot." You know all about the teen-age gangs who tear up theater seats, smash windows and maul each other to the accompaniment of a Rock 'N Roll band.

FEW HAVE delusions about the music itself. It is primitive, even barbaric. In lyrics, melody and arrangement there is a total lack of imagination. Much of it lacks every vestige of good taste.

But all this proves is that Rock 'N Roll is providing the musical background, not a cause or even an excuse for today's delinquency. NO ONE really believes that switch knives will disappear when the last Rock 'N Roll tune drops from the hit parade.

But a lot of people would like to believe it. They embrace the theory, that to solve a problem you look for a "bad guy." And as the delinquency statistics mount, the "bad guy" of a national tragedy has become Rock 'N Roll music.

A headline-frightened public is beginning to think that if you smash enough records you can solve the delinquency problem. It would be nice if we could solve a vastly complicated social problem in this simple fashion. Life would be simpler. But social problems never come phrased as easy yes-or-no propositions.

IF YOU BLAME delinquency on Rock 'N Roll you are going to have to ignore millions of America's finest youngsters sitting at home listening to a Pat Boone record, or dancing to other moderate Rock 'N Roll artists. These good kids will listen to this music and never once be tempted to start a riot. If they are not already in the market for gang warfare, Rock 'N Roll isn't going to put them there.

To beat the delinquency sickness, America is going to have to examine its conscience, not its hit parade.

Delinquency is riding through America on the crest of a nation's flight from God. Broken families are spawning it. Homes empty of religion, and ignorant of the personality and teachings of Christ are spreading it. Children with no reason for being good are turning out bad.

IN A YEAR Rock 'N Roll will have gone to the limbo of forgotten fads. But unless God is given His due, delinquency will still be thriving.

Paulist Feature Service, Washington 17, D. C.

TALK OF THE TOWN

By HANK FILIPPONE

At this writing, the Shawheen Avenue bridge is still closed to traffic, and it's anyone's guess as to when it will be opened. Bridge Lane is taking a terrific beating and the sight of the school children waiting the school bus at the corner of Main Street in the morning, makes me shudder. Two weeks ago there were some men working on the bridge but the weather must have discouraged them.

Political activity is a bit slow as yet. The only ones that are running for School Committee that I am certain of are Pearl Herom and Henry Sullivan. For Selectmen, at present, I only know of Eddie Sullivan. Eddie is a veteran of World War II and Korea, holds an M. A. and a M. A. from Boston University, and has recently retired from the State Troopers. At present Eddie holds a Lt. Commander's commission in the Naval Reserve. Rumors have it that Paul Metcalfe and Paul Godyczek will also be running. At Fenton has decided not to run for the Board of Wilmington Housing Authority.

SEEN AROUND - Jim Breen, resident in his American Legion uniform, at Stevens Supermarket, selling Blue Crutches - Jack Madigan's car coming out second best in an argument with a snowbank - the noticeable absence of a policeman at the corners of Lake Street and Shawheen Avenue - Selectman Frank Hagerty back in town after a couple of weeks out of state - Jeanne Moore back home from the hospital and recuperating at home - That large, cleaned out and filled in area around Hal Foley's Drive-In, that would make a terrific spot for a Business Center - Jack Parr's Wilmington Diner open for business again - Phil Leduc's new shop all set up and away he is going - Lucie's new market and Elia's at North Wilmington - all setting the trend for fringe business in the wake of AVCO's setting here -

The special town meeting, held Monday night must have set some sort of a record for brevity. In thirteen minutes the town voted unanimously to rescind a vote of the town back in August, 1957, to raise a sum of $400,000.00 and to transfer a sum of approximately $75,000.00 of an unexpended appropriation voted by the town in March, 1954, towards constructing and equipping a further addition to the extension of our present Junior-Senior High School. As a matter of fact, it took me longer to type this information than it did for the town to vote the three articles. Moderator Si. Cutter didn't even have to catch his second wind.

There will be a meeting of the Chairman of our Board of Selectmen, Town Counsel, County Commissioners and State Representatives Tom Donohue and Frank Tanner at the Roman House, Monday, January 27, to discuss the suggested relocation of the Nichols Street Bridge.

Suspicious of his recent purchase of a used car, a Tewksbury Junk yard dealer, notified the local authorities, who in turn asked the Wilmington Police to be on the watch for a man dressed in the uniform of the U. S. Army, wearing Master Sergeant stripes. At 5:15 p.m. Officer Charles Dolan observed the man in question hurrying along Main Street and took him into custody for interrogation. After questioning by Officers Charley Dolan and George Fuller, the suspect admitted to the theft of the car from Boston only two and a quarter hours earlier. He gave his name as John Miller, 31, of Franklin Street, Cambridge and admitted to impersonating a member of the armed forces. He was released to the Boston Police authorities. Moral, stay out of Wilmington when in commission of crime, and don't be hurrying along Main Street.

The move I read the wage report of our school teachers as released by the School Committee, the more I am sure that our teachers will not be underpaid. Modern wages, modern schools, modern equipment, and that is the end of the washboard in Home economics class.

New route 28 will take motorists from Wilmington into Boston in only 20 minutes without any sweat. A heartening note for our school system was mentioned by Fred Corum at the special town meeting, last Monday night, when he stated that three rooms of the 14 room addition to our Junior-Senior high school will be used for scientific classes.

Hal McKelvey was injured in an auto accident last Thursday and suffered a broken nose and three broken ribs. At present, Hal is still in the hospital at Waltham.

As My Garden Sleeps

By Mari Gold

This is the time of year for planning your next season's garden. Look back over '57 and recall some of the things which you wish to avoid in 1958. Perhaps you were a little lazy when the sun got hot and the weeds got ahead of you. Maybe you crowded your garden so that nothing did very well or perhaps your garden was too much shade. Whether you are an experienced gardener or an amateur, it is always wise to make plans now.

Get a pad of paper and a pencil and make some new garden resolutions. By turning the calendar ahead, you can view a new garden season full of opportunities. Last year we had a drought, the worst in 140 years which was hard on the lawns and gardens, but it could be 140 years before we have another, that is a chance which we have to take. If some of your vegetables did not base as heavy as they should have, you can always try another variety, which could be more adapted to your soil or to our climate. It is always disappointing after a summer of work or play, which ever gardening is to you, to reap a poor harvest or to experience failure with your favorite flowers. This is why it is wise to study the seed catalogs. Cheap seeds and plants give cheap results.

There is nothing more essential to most gardens than sunlight. If you try to impose a set pattern upon your plan without regard to shade or sun, you are in for a lot of disappointment with sickly plants. Drainage is also important to your garden, few plants like wet feet so when you make your garden plans for this summer, there are a few things to take into consideration.

You should make an inventory of your garden supplies, tools, fertilizers etc. Now is a good time to buy arbors, trellis or garden furniture as you have plenty of time for painting if you chose the unpainted type.

If you burn wood in a fireplace, save all the ashes so they can be used to condition your garden soil next spring. Wood-ashes are a valuable source of potash, which aids the root development of plants, growth, flower coloration and strengthens stems. After the heavy snow, many of our trees need pruning or a branch needs to be removed, so make a single flush cut. Repairing tree wounds or cuts need no longer leave you looking like a "tar baby" as there is a new dressing being introduced by DuPont this year. The new material sets quickly to form a smooth black seal against moisture and decay while natural healing is taking place. It is designed for rapid and easy treatment of wounds to trees and shrubs and comes in a 12 ounce push-button container.

This stormy weather makes the house plant seem more enjoyable, even if it is only a green foliage plant, but if you have plants with a blossom, they seem so bright and cheerful on these dull days. Soap and water works wonders with the dead, closed leaf-pores of house plants and now it is time to feed them with a liquid or plant tablet fertilizer. Use only after a thorough watering. A good way to clean the plants is to place them in the bath tub and turn on the shower, using tepid water. This is the nearest thing to a spring rain and has wonderful results. I leave mine in the tub until they dry off a little. There are a few plants such as African Violets, Cyclamen, Gloxinias and Prensulas which don't like water on their leaves. These should be watered only from the bottom. Never leave water standing in a saucer of jardiniere, this will breed fungus growth. Daily watering is not necessary.

If you have rooted bulbs as previously instructed, you should be enjoying blooms splendidly, but if you haven't you may still buy bulbs at your seed store or florist. Their preparation for blooming is simplicity itself. Hyacinths, Chinese Sacred-lilies, paper white narcissus etc may now be forced in bowls of water for the house. If you would like blooms all winter, start a fresh batch of these quick rooting bulbs every 10 days.

With all the bad weather of late, I hope my readers have not forgotten the birds. At my feeder I have a large variety of birds, the yellow grosbeak, one lone cow bird which evidently got waylaid going south, chickadees, juncos, woodpeckers and several others. One of my readers is entertaining two male Towhees (ground robins) at her feeder. Why not try feeding the birds. Stand back and watch them appreciate your "handouts". They will repay you many times by bringing a little cheerful interest to dull winter days.

Those new dollar bills now in circulation carry the motto "In God We Trust." But that's the only change since they're still worth a scant 49.7 cents per. Why worry - it's like a rocking chair - it gives you something to do, but it doesn't get you anywhere.

Winter Fine Time To Protect Home With New Roof

Don't wait for warmer weather to have a new roof applied on your home, warns Andrew C. Lang, author of the new book, Home Repairs.

"A new roof of asphalt shingles can be applied successfully in winter," says Lang, "and if a house has an old, worn roof, waiting until spring for reroofing can be dangerous."

Lang explains that winter's hardest punch lands on the roof. Ice, snow, harsh winds and low temperatures give the roofing material a beating in colder sections of the country. In warmer areas, the roofing takes a pounding from heavy winds and rain. If the roofing is old and weathered, says Lang, it's apt to spring leaks which can cause serious interior damage before the home-owner is aware of it.

Water can seep into roof decking, causing it to warp. Leaks also can cause expensive damage to interior ceilings and walls. If water gets into electric wiring, dangerous short circuits may result.

One particular advantage of reroofing in winter, says Lang, is that most contractors probably will be able to schedule the job at the home-owner's convenience, since roofers' work calendars are not so crowded during winter months.

HOME OWNERS QUESTION BOX

Q-A neighbor advised us that the combination storm and screen windows and doors were thinking of buying would spoil the rustic appearance of our house, which is a ranch-type with natural wood siding. Is he right?

A-Not if you buy combination storm and screen windows and doors of ponderosa pine. The wood will harmonize ideally with the sidewalls and can be stained or painted as desired.

Q-I've read that planning an exterior color scheme for a house always starts with the roof. Why is this?

A-The most practical reason is that the roof color probably will outlast all other colors. Asphalt shingles have a long service life, while paint needs renewing every few years. Another reason is that the roof usually presents the largest expanse of color and is a unifying background for the color of siding, trim, doors, shutters, and the like. These colors should blend with the roof color, match it, or be in pleasing contrast with it.

Q-The stucco finish on my house has hundreds of fine cracks in it. What can I apply to fill the cracks and make the house look better?

A-Small, hairline cracks can be filled with a cement wash brushed over the stucco. Prepare the wash by thinning Portland cement with water to a consistency of paint. Damp the entire surface and apply wash with a stiff brush, using a circular motion.

Q-What's the best way to keep water pipes from sweating?

A-Wrap them with insulation. This keeps pipes at an even temperature and prevents condensation. The insulation is especially valuable on hot water pipes, since it prevents heat loss.

Stop Freezing!

They've finally invented an inexpensive portable heater that will keep you warm just about anywhere on the farm... inside or out-of-doors.

Called the Knipco "Thrifty-50" heater, it's a compact, 42 lb., circulating warm-air heater that runs on kerosene and puts out 50,000 BTUs of heat per hour. An electric fan in the heater circulates a stream of warm air, so it can be used to heat work shops, sheds, pig pens and other farm buildings, or to "spot heat" out-doors. It's also used for thawing frozen pipes or pumps and pre-heating cold engines.

The Knipco heater sells for less than $100 and runs for 14 hours on a 5-gal. tank of kerosene. It's safe to use, with a valve that cuts off fuel if electricity fails. Completely insulated, it has a safe, built-in electric starter. The heater plugs in any regular 110 volt outlet. The heaters are manufactured by Knipco, Dayton 1, Ohio, and are available through farm implement dealers.

Youth Beaten

At 6:30 p.m. on January 16, George Lloyd of Hillsdale Ave., Burlington was standing near the bank in Wilmington Center attempting to catch a ride to Tewksbury. He was approached by three boys, all about 18 and after an exchange of remarks, the three set upon Lloyd, beating him about the head and kicking him about the body, inflicting several injuries. Sgt. Imbimbo and Officer Kelley sped to the scene upon receiving a report, but the injured youth refused medical attention.

The three youths responsible for the beating are known to police and further investigation is pending.

Town Democratic Committee Plans Whist

Wilmington's Town Democratic Committee plans a monster whist party in March. Co-Chairmen Mrs. Elizabeth Kelley and Ernie Crispo advise planning ahead for what promises to be a gala and profitable evening, with interesting special events.

The Lions Roar

The first thing you would like to mention this week is the local Lions Drive for usable clothing for far east refugees. This drive is now underway and will continue until at least February 15. All usable clothing, blankets or shoes that you have and desire to give away will be most acceptable.

Your local Lions Club, along with all other Lions Clubs in the New England area are attempting to obtain at least one ton of clothing each. This clothing will be sent overseas and distributed among the less fortunate people of ravished areas including those of the Gaza Strip.

Bundles may be left at the Kirby Station, Bill and Mel's Texaco Station or at the fire station. If you cannot get them to the above mentioned pick-up stations, you may call OL 8-3341, 8-2625, or 8-2832 and someone from the committee will see to it that your donation is picked up. The central storage station is the Hersom barn, so if anyone in that area would like to, they may drop donations off there.

Last Wednesday night saw a very good turnout for the meeting despite the snow and hazardous driving conditions. There were 30 members and 3 guests present. Donnie was the only one who came prepared with boots for walking from car to door. The slush and water were quite deep in some spots in the parking lot.

Belated orchids to Mr. and Mrs. Jim Doherty on the arrival of their new little Doherty. I wonder: How many notes Fred gets each week; what Pete left so early for; if some of the members will try and make an effort to send clothes on this drive; what happened to Mel's snow plow last Wednesday night.

King Cashing requests that all members please try to make the meetings one hundred percent.

Well, I guess that is all for now, so until later, I'll be seeing you. The Small Cub

ROTARY

The weekly meeting of the Rotary Club was held last Wednesday at noon, at the Masonic Hall, with president John Gleason in charge.

After the usual opening ceremonies, the president called upon Rev. Stanley Cummings to offer the invocation.

After the luncheon, the group enjoyed singing led by Dr. Chennoff, accompanied by Roger Hayden on the piano. The president called upon Adrian Durkee to introduce the following visiting rotarians: From Winchester, Charles Howe, and Larry Dallin, from Stoneham, Fred Keene and Kenneth Currie, from Woburn Joe Cavicchi, Wade Johnson, Hig Higginbotham, and from Reading Will Perkins. Joe Babbitt introduced his guest, son Mark Babbitt.

President Gleason appointed Carl Totman, George Castanaras, Millard Pipes and Henry Blair, to formulate plans for a joint meeting with the Lions Club.

Chairman Ed Osberg of the International Service, reported that plans for the High School oratorical contest are progressing satisfactorily. This is one of the most ambitious projects ever attempted by the local club. It is to provide a contest between a student of our High School, and a student from the Quebec Canada High School. Supt. of Schools John Collins announced that the contest to determine the winner from Wilmington took place on Monday, Jan. 20, at 1:15 p.m. The winner of the contest will appear at the Rotary meeting on Jan. 22, and will deliver his talk, and in the near future he will make the trip to the Hotel Frontenac in Quebec, where he will again give his talk to members of the Quebec Rotary Club, and be entertained by that club for several days.

President Gleason, thanked the chairman Ed Osberg, and Supt. of Schools John Collins, and all the committee members for the required work, in making such an outstanding project possible.

CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH HOLDS ANNUAL MEETING

The annual meeting of the Wilmington Congregational Church was held on Thursday evening, Jan. 16, with a fine attendance in spite of the stormy weather. Philip Buzell presided as Moderator.

Reports on the work of the past year were presented in printed form, revealing a year of healthy growth. Forty members were added to the church, bringing the membership as of Jan. 1, to 437, and the average church attendance on Sunday increased by 22 over that of the previous year.

The treasurer's report was especially gratifying. With a substantial sum set aside for property improvement reserve, the year 1957 ended with a cash balance in the treasury of over $1200. The Finance Committee presented a budget for 1958 which would enable the church to retain the services of the assistant minister, Donald E. Tibbets, unless he decides to accept a church of his own. In any event, the Every Member Canvass last fall was unusually successful, and this year the church will be able to operate on a budget of over $24,000 (current expenses and missions).

As the members turned from a survey of the past to the forward look, the minister of the church, Rev. Stanley Cummings, stated that the burden of leadership in this growing church has become so heavy that he felt it wise to announce that he will withdraw from the Wilmington pastorate at the end of this calendar year. Consideration was also given to the fact that 1958 marks the 225th anniversary of the founding of the church, and after suggestions have been given as to possible ways of bringing about a fitting observance of this event, it was voted that the Moderator should appoint a committee to take charge of the plans, with the thought that the commemoration might take place in the month of October.

The adoption of the report of the Nominating Committee brought the re-election of the present officials. The list of new appointees is as follows: Deacon for four years, Dr. Gaius Harmon. Deaconesses for two years, Mrs. Raymond Ashworth, Mrs. Wige Andersen, and Mrs. Parker Prindle. Junior deacon for one year, Louis Vistola. Junior Deaconess for one year, Miss Louise Carney. Mr. Robert Gunderesen was added to the Finance Committee. The chairmanship of the Missionary Committee and the Committee on Religious Education is as yet uncertain. Mrs. Ronald Kennedy will be the chairman of next year's nominating committee, and Mr. Robert Ramsdell will be the new member. Mr. Albert Blackburn was elected as the Superintendent of the Church School.

The meeting was followed by a pleasant social hour, the refreshments being served by the L.B.S.

HEBREW COMMUNITY CENTER TO HOLD WHIST

On Wednesday evening, February 12, at 8 o'clock, the Wilmington-Tewksbury Hebrew Community Center will hold a gift whist at the community center building on Salem St., opposite MacDonald Rd. Many lovely prizes have been obtained for the winners of the event. These prizes are all suitable for giving as gifts or for enhancing the winner's own home.

A door prize will be awarded and refreshments will be served. An enjoyable evening has been planned for all who attend. Everyone is cordially invited.

Recently the prize of a beautiful hand-made afghan was awarded to John MacDonald of Stoneham.

D. A. V. HILITES

On Saturday evening, Jan. 25, there will be a testimonial banquet at John Hancock Hall in Boston, held in honor of Herman Lee, for his fine work in behalf of hospitalized veterans over the years. Among those attending will be Mrs. Foster Farcole, Congressman Lawrence Curtis, Paul E. Frederick, Jr., National Commander D. A. V., and many other dignitaries. Commander James Simpson of Chapter 106 will attend with a group from Wilmington.

According to the figures recently received from State Department Headquarters, Chapter 106 has reached its membership quota of last year. With the addition of a few new applications received in the past few weeks we should be over the top. Now it remains for this membership total to be reflected in the number of men attending the regular meeting. We hope that the new members will become more than just dues-paying names on the Chapter Roster. We also wish to urge all members who have not, as yet, paid their 1957-58 dues to do so as soon as possible.

CONGREGATIONAL NEWS

The officers and teachers of the Church School will meet in the parish house on Thursday at 6:45 p.m. for a supper and meeting.

Boy Scout Troop 36 Friday at 7. Next Sunday, Jan. 26, will be Youth Sunday, and the Fireside Fellowship will conduct both morning services, at 9:30 and 11. The Quaintance Club will meet at 5 p.m. The Bible study group will meet at the home of Parker Prindle Jr. at 6:30 for a brief session. At 7 p.m. the United Youth Groups of Wilmington will hold service and program at the Methodist Church.

Sterling Silver is Teen-ager's Dream

Wise parents understand the "moods" of teen-age daughters. They know that deep down, their little girl yearns to be married to a dream man, live in a dream house and entertain her husband's boss and friends with poise and charm.
But sometimes the dream falters;
she wonders if she could really fill the role successfully.
Parents and loving relatives can give her an early assurance with beautiful things. Mother should use her sterling daily to teach daughter that courteous living is not necessarily formal living—(daily use increases the lovely patina and minimizes the need for polishing.) It helps the teen-ager to start her on her own set. Ownership gives her a deep sense of security and conviction that, when the time comes, she will know how to do her husband proud. This Christmas, start her with a six-piece place setting of beautiful sterling for a little as $30.

The warning came from Rabbi Ira Eisenstein, author and spiritual leader of Anshe Synagogue in Chicago.

Rabbi Eisenstein told the B'nai B'rith Committee on Adult Jewish Education, meeting here at a two-day conference, that adult educators "are debasing their own currency" when they allow "anything and everything to be called 'education and culture'."

He said: "We cannot hope to lure the people out of the bowling alleys and swimming pools by merely 'popularizing' Jewish study."
Yet, he added, programs such as those undertaken throughout the nation by B'nai B'rith, provide an important opportunity "to bring some of our intellectuals back into Jewish life."

Dr. Horace M. Kallen, social philosopher and a member of the faculty of the New School for Social Research, told the conference that adult education programs must emphasize integration of the Jewish past with the present.
"To be meaningful the tradition must become part of a free modern society, not isolated from but rather an orchestrated part of the total human society.

To be a Jew in this modern age is to affirm the principles of democracy and supply them to Jewish way of life.

oneself."
Dr. Mordecai Kaplan, noted Jewish philosopher and author, held that the danger of international global war gives new and dramatic meaning to the Jewish way of life.
